GARDEN SUCCULENT SEDUM SUNSPARKLER R BLUE PEARL

Sedum is a perennial with thick, succulent leaves, fleshy stems, and clusters of flowers. There are many types of sedums/garden succulents, yet all are easy to care for and grow in American gardens. Sometimes called 'fat plants,' these very popular and trendy favorites have some parts that are more than normally thickened and fleshy, usually to retain water in arid climates or soil conditions. Sedums are also commonly known as Stonecrop. A very dependable choice for the garden that offers foliage interest early in the season and a colorful flower display later.

Succulents are plants that store water in their leaves

About This Variety: A fun and exciting Sedum variety about which it's all about the foliage and not the flowers. The foliage is bluish-plum in color, it flowers pink and is shorter in stature with strong stems. Drought tolerant water wise plant. Retains its color all summer long. Use any way you please.

Growing Instructions: Plant in spring in well-drained soil in full sun. Remember to divide your plants in the years to come to control their spread.

Care Tip: The plants require little maintenance as long as they are planted properly and establish themselves. After flowering, cut back the plants to maintain their shape.

Exposure: Full sun

Height: Grows 6-8" tall

Spacing: Plant 12-18" apart, 0.5" deep

Hardy in: USDA zones 3-9

Guaranteed to grow 1 year from purchase if directions are followed. Any concerns related to quality and/or counts feel free to contact us.
