

Veterinarian founded, formulated,
and operated since 2015

Veterinarian Dr. Tim Shu founded VetCBD in 2015 to provide pets the benefits of CBD. Since then, he and the VetCBD team have been committed to the education, research and advocacy of cannabinoid therapeutics for animals.

Dr. Shu combines his veterinary knowledge with his medical hemp expertise to formulate products that are safe and effective for pets.

As a leading expert on the subject, Dr. Shu and VetCBD have been featured by numerous media outlets such as The Today Show and CNBC.

Helping Your Pet Thrive

TRUSTED

Since 2015

FORMULATED BY VETERINARIAN: Dr. Tim Shu

You want your pet to live their best life. So do we.

Since 2015, our veterinary-formulated
CBD products have been improving the lives of pets around the country.
Together, we can help your pet thrive.

Passing the sniff test

A recent study tested 29 pet CBD products, and found that only 10 of the 29 products had the correct amount of CBD.¹ That means over 65% of the tested products were labeled incorrectly!

Why does this happen? Because CBD companies are not required to test their final products, and because testing is expensive.

At VetCBD lab testing is what we've been doing since 2015. We triple-test our products using California-licensed, third party testing labs, so you get quality and consistency every time.

How can CBD help my pet?

The amazing thing about CBD is the number of benefits it can provide. Here are the 4 main areas it can help with. If you have questions about your pet's specific needs, don't hesitate to reach out to us (you can find all our contact info on the back!).

Support joint mobility

Help keep your pet calm

- Vet visits
- Fireworks
- Road trips
- Thunderstorms

Help maintain a healthy intestinal tract

Support normal brain function

Quality products, without breaking the bank

We use only the best ingredients, from premium hemp grown in the US, to organic extra virgin olive oil. We test our ingredients throughout the manufacturing process so your pet gets only the best. We don't compromise on quality, and neither should you. And, we do this at affordable prices, bringing you maximum value.

We're NASC certified

The NASC Quality Seal identifies products from companies that are committed to strict quality standards, vigilance, and continuous improvement to promote the well-being of animals.
