Thank you for choosing Hatching Time's Chicken Coop House, part of the Modular Coop System created for simplicity, strength, and comfort.

This unit gives your chickens a safe and weather resistant home that is easy to assemble and clean. Every panel is made from solid EcoFlex, a durable and sustainable wood plastic composite that resists rot, moisture, and pests much better than wood.

The modular design lets you expand or customize your setup as your flock grows. The nesting box makes egg collection easy, while the vented panels keep fresh air flowing and help control temperature through every season. Assembly is quick and simple with tool free connections. You will not need power tools or special skills.

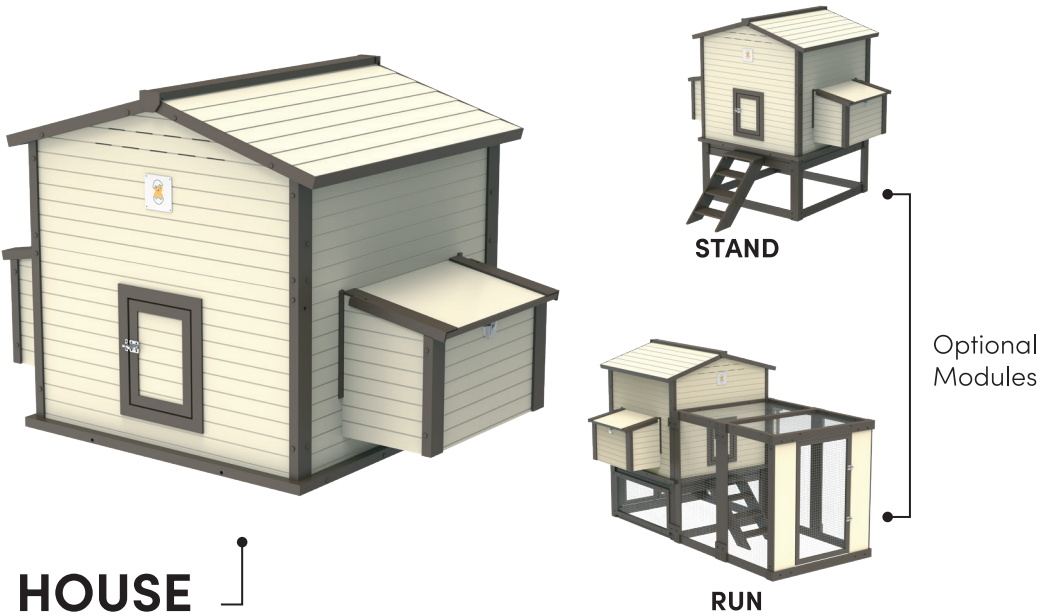

Whether you keep a few chickens in your backyard or manage a small farm, this coop is built to last through years of daily use. Please read this manual before starting assembly to make sure your setup is safe and performs as expected. With proper care, your chickens will have a healthy and secure space, and maintenance will stay simple for you.

Enjoy your Hatching Time coop. It brings together practical design, reliable materials, and real world performance.
